ADAMS FAMILY VIEWPOINT

Welcome to issue no. 2 of the Adams Family, No.1 fanzine of the No.1 non-league club.

Thanks for BUYING issue 2 in the middle of this deep recession, We hope you enjoy it and think it's worth the 50p.

I'm sure many of us had conceded the title race to Colchester after th 0-1 reverse at Telford put us 11 points behind, however the gritty 1-0 win at Northwich, Colchesters amazing 4-1 defeat at Welling, added to the signings of Dennis Green and Steve Thomson must give us all new heart.

Come the end of the month with our games in hand played, we should have a true picture of whether we can do it or not. I believe with our inspired new signings we can really put the pressure on McDonoughs mob, and make no mistake, it is they who the pressure and expectation is now on.

Thanks to those who have taken the time out to write to us, We really appreciate it and please do feel free to send us articles, suggestions etc. We'll print anything you like because that's the whole point.

See You In April.

ne first question that strikes me this issue is why exactly there are no question marks on this word processor-it makes robing enquiries very difficult!

ooking back over the past two months is very difficult(not ecause I have a memory for matches like a goldfish,although I o!))but because it has led to hours of conversation in the ub(and of course,on the terrace)and I'm limited to a few mere ords. I guess January and February are best summed up like my ld school reports;"tries hard" and "could do better".

hings obviously got off to a good start with a couple of leasing wins over Slough(mind you,any win over Slough is a good ne -come to think of it any win is a good one)although Scotty's iss from 10 yards was astonishing -name another Conference triker capable of it (apart from West,Ryan-yes well,enough of hat). What was amazing was the fact that in only one season I'd forgotten how truly awful their ground is,those cheap floodlights ouldn't do the job on a Subbuteo pitch let alone something ertaining to a football pitch. I'm always bemused by the away terrace,you either stay dry under the roof and see nothing(not a ad idea sometimes)or view various parts of the ground and get lashed on.

Give me Adams Park anyday.It was there in fact that those in the Woodland Terrace were treated to the sight of the police trying to arrest a group of people who'd overdone it by trying to keep out the Winter chills by having a small dram. The small dram became a very large one and before you knew it the Police were quizzing them if they were intoxicated (they naturally denied it). This denial,however was slightly ruined when one of their kids started playing with an empty Whisky bottle. The actual arrest was somewhat marred by the now blatantly guilty trying on the Policeman's helmet,however the most bizarre moment of the day belonged to Matt Crossley(the undoubted star of the last 2 months) who somehow managed to score.

Whilst on the subject of centre backs I don't know if it's just me but is Glyn Creaser less of a rock in the back four and more of a pebble these days. I've heard a few suggestions that it's only the captaincy that keeps him in the team-not too sure about that but he's definitely not the man that lifted the cup last year

Anyway on the positive side.....ermmm,the music being played over the P.A. is improving. I was really excited at the prospect of half time penalties,however the farce of a woman taking them spoilt it a bit,as did the oaf with no ability. Surely they would be better of nominating Westy or someone similar(I'm available for the job if someone will cut me in for the cut glass decanter) I was a bit disappointed the P.A. announcer had never heard of The Adams Family when he announced one of our birthdays the other

1 month - WISE UP, or get out, or of course start abusing the referee (Hello Royston Osborne)

I won't go on about him (we all know he's crap, it's fact) what was disappointing were Martins' comments after the match. I'm sure that if Martin were manager of any other side I'd hate him, after all we loathe Barry Fry for running down the touchline after crucial goals (not that Martin gets much practice with our goalscoring powers) I also hate Roy McDonagh for always shouting his mouth off but no-one seems to whinge more than Martin at the moment. It was amusing to hear his comments on radio 5 when talking about Ron Atkinson getting ticked off for abusing the ref, surprisingly he wasn't on the refs side. While we all enjoy the sight of him leaping off his bench as if on springs, it really gets a bit much when he blows his top over dubious trivial throw-ons. I'm sure our bad press can't endear us to officials who haven't been to one of our games for a while. Maybe we could shower the men in black with flowers and chocolates to get us a better name in future!

I'm sure that everyone (apart from Farnborough) will be gutted that our match was abandoned ridiculously late in the day. More annoying than all of this were the poor reams of letters which were published by the BFP next week. Admittedly on the Woodland you could hear a sickening snap from the general direction of the keeper's leg, however I feel confident that no-one who knew that he was in such pain would have jeered. Remember kids just because someone in a shell-suit and a Barry McGuigan tash who smokes does it, doesn't mean you have to do it.

I don't know what our latest tactics are as regards defending a one goal lead, but it doesn't seem to be working - witness our poor performance against Bath in the league. I know that Martin said last season that we wouldn't see so many goals because we would kill games off while we were in the lead (in theory anyway) There is a difference between killing off a game (i.e. Liverpool when playing away from home in Europe) and stopping trying to score any more goals. At the moment we concede a lot of play up front and in midfield when we are a goal up, then, more often than not we end up playing a lone striker.

This was nearly our undoing against Woking who were impressive on the pitch but more impressive in their support, the last away support I saw like that was at Alty (ah glory days!)

Just enough space left to gloss over the Telford and Cheltenham games and to rejoice in the fact that Martin Blackler finally managed to pull on a Wycombe shirt this season, expect, nay demand a return to the first team soon (he scores now as well) Another ex-Wanderer hitting the old onion bag is of course Sir Mick of Boston - good on him (can't say we didn't warn you Martin)

Only one question this month; why, when we have an excellent left winger do we play another left winger in the same match (Geoff Cooper) the man is on a permanent overlap! What next Hyde and Roffey together.

SLOUGH TOWN's local derby with Wycombe over Christmas was a grand reunion for three former Wycombe players in manager Alan Davies, who also served as assistant manager at Loakes Park, Steve Shitby, who joined the Bebebs for £8,000 earlier this season and goalkeeper Trevor Buntin who started

BLUES announced a sixth-month profit of £25,000 this week as their successful season keeps their head above water despite the recession.

And the club's financial director, Graham Peart, has issued a 'come and buy' appeal to other clubs as Blues still await any serious transfer interest for the players that have brought them success.

Blues' early warning

BLUES FANS are being urged to get to Adams Park early for tomorrow's FA Trophy match against Woking.

Police predict that the second round match will be a sell-out with all 6,000 places being snapped up by very hungry fans hours before the 3pm kick-off.

If all 6,000 seats are sold it will be a record for Adams Park where the previous top crowd was 5,700 in an all-ticket cup match against Peterborough last year.

TO START WITH THE A SIDE "THE WANDERER", IT BEGINS WITH A SUBTLE RIFF ON GUITARS AND KEYBOARD AND SOON WHIPS UP TO A FULL SCALE MUSICAL FEAST, COMPLETE WITH HOT LICKS FROM THE GUITAR, STORMING RIFFS FROM THE KEYBOARD, ALL BACKED-UP WITH MONUMENTAL BASS AND PERCUSSION (WELL SORT OF LIKE THAT). A TRULY STUNNING FEAST TO WET ANYONE'S MUSICAL APPETITE.....EXCEPT THAT IS FOR THE NOTABLE ABSENCE OF ANY LYRICS!! IS THIS REALLY DUE TO SOME CRAZED AMERICAN CROONER, OR WERE ALAN PARRY'S LYRICS OFFENSIVE, OR MAYBE WORRIED THAT CHART STARDOM COULD ENTICE THE TEAM AWAY FROM THEIR ROOTS, WAS THE SONG DELIBERATELY SABOTAGED? In the next few editions we aim to bring you an understanding of what the Board of Directors and any other blue suited chaps actually do for the club.

You see their names, suits and ties and you can also see them sitting in their pleasant red seats, so for all that are they as dedicated as those who weekly pay four pounds plus, as well as coach travel etc. It is best we leave it for you to decide.

ALAN HUTCHINSON OR RONNIE CORBETT.....

Many clubs have celebrities for Chairmen, Directors or Fans and WFFC are no exception. We are lucky enough to have as Ringing the Blues editor Ronnie Corbett from the sensational duo The Two Ronnies and also from that excellent show Sorry. While at WW Ronnie does go under the pseudonym of Alan Hutchinson you've still only got to look at his face and you will start laughing. Alan has a much more serious role at WW and for those of you who hear him each week on Ringing The Blues here is an insight to the great comic.

Alan works part time for the club but to be honest does a lot of work in that time (so I'm told). His daily job is owner and manager of Frocks and Crystals a glass and chinaware shop in Bourne End. This obviously takes up a lot of time and any spare time he does have is dedicated to the blues. A daily chore is updating RINGING THE BLUES the Q&A that tells you exactly whats going on in the club, and gives us such hot off the press news such as the recent signing of Dennis Owen.

Blues line are also responsible for making most of WW money as you wait a good hour on match reports to actually get the score meanwhile the price of your call is going up tenfold.

As for what we know of Alan's history with the club is that he was always a fan and ran a youth team under the club's name. This team played in the East Berks men's league. His youthful enthusiasm (those are not my words) was noted and Alan was asked to take on the role of club secretary, he did this for a year until handing it over to the well respected John Goldsmith. Alan has had close links with the club for about five years now and is supposed to be very good at keeping people entertained. He has a knack of remembering stories in great detail and his Jaclanory talent is a source of great amusement. I must also say that I've been told he can whittle on about nothing and enjoys mentioning those people he used to hang out with (i.e. Veners, Henry Venables). I believe this is called name dropping Alan, stop it.

So there you have it, a quick insight to Alan Hutchinsons, although I would like to point out I too can talk on a phone and would even wear a suit if it saved me four quid every game, but Alan's got the job and all I can say is good luck to him, and say hello to Veners for me.

SQUAD WARS..... With the recent signings of DENNIS GREEN and STEVE THOMPSON, plus the loan lads Jon Mutton and Geoff Cooper the Wycombe squad has swelled to 25 members. While the squad may remain at this size with all the injuries to key players, at some stage it will have to be reduced to, say 18-20 members. We hereby attempt to speculate who will get the free transfers to Slough, Cheam and Aylesbury.

We must remember that Martin O'Neill has consistently said that he wouldn't bring anyone into the squad, unless they are better than what we already have. Obviously this means that GREEN and THOMPSON are rated in this category. It seems Cooper and Mutton are short term cover for injured players so this leaves us with 23.

GOAL KEEPERS: MOUSSADIK HYDE ROFFEY:

With Hyde as undisputed No1, Moussadik and Roffey will be fighting it out for the No2 spot. Chuck has apparently been injured for months and Trev has wasted no time raising his profile, with the half time shoot outs and some fine displays in the reserves. Long term injury looks like being Chuck's downfall, which is nothing more than bad luck.

DEFENCE:

Kreaser, Kerr, Cousins and Crossley are all safe, leaving our cover star Wally and Covington the odd men out. However with all the suspensions our defence gets it's probably best to have a bit of cover. Mind you we've not seen Wally in action recently so perhaps he's permanently Knackered.

MIDFIELD:

+ suspicion

The safe bets here are Smith, Carroll, and Steve Thompson, sadly it is becoming clear that Martin Blackler doesn't figure in the managers plans and I'd tip Ryan to play in the squad ahead of Deakin on the grounds of (yes you've guessed it), his workrate.

FORWARD:

Applying the managers theories on new signings, Green must be safe along with Casey, Hutchinson, and Guppy. It looks as though Ty Gooden isn't going to fulfil his immense early promise and is unlikely to dislodge Guppy. Essentially this means one of our trophy heroes could be on their way down the A404 to Marlow. West is totally out of sorts at the moment and of all the bad spells he's had, this is certainly the longest and past glories don't last forever. Scott tries his best but he seems so unfit and low on confidence in front of goal that come the end of the match he cuts a sad figure. I don't believe both of these players will survive but it would take a brave man to end their Wycombe careers.

This is only a personal view and I'm sure some of you will vehemently disagree with my views, so why not let us know what you think.

Is it because we are in a recession that I'm forced to write about this next topic?

I have decided to moan about a sight becoming more common on a Saturday afternoon-THE PILEY SUPPORTER!! It seems that whenever I turn my head towards the hills opposite the Valley terrace, I see some bright git watching the game for nothing. I can't believe that a half view of half the pitch is worth not paying four pound to see it all. Yes, you hear the excuse, "I was just out walking the dog" or "crumbs I didn't know there was a football ground here, there's even a game going on" The most famous person who was lucky enough to get his face in the paper was our New Year's day cabaret act, "The Flying Scotsman". All I can say is, he went to show it's no rumour that, JOLLS ARE ALL UBBLE!

READERS, DO YOU AGREE? IF NOT THEN SEND IN YOUR OWN ABEYMAL TEAM FOR THE BLUES. DON'T FORGET PLAYERS SUCH AS JOSH PRILE, HIS BROTHER NEIL, DAVID SCOPE, ROWAN DODDS OR JASON SEACOLE. DON'T BE AFRAID TO SLATE THE SO CALLED STARS-OF-OLD, IN THIS NEW FEATURE IN T.A.F.

It is with great pleasure that we greet Kim Casey to our 'professional set up'. We doff the cap and bob a curtsey to this fine striker and trust he will find the net in a similar style to the 85/86 season when 73 goals in 68 appearances was his proud record. 43 goals ensued next season but all mags and programmes will tell you he hasn't quite re-captured that form since, yet one has to say that playing in a team alongside folk like Anton Vircavs, Kevin 'sad perm' Willets and Paul Lester can hardly be inspiring for any quality player. (Even though they beat us every year !)

After the handfull of games he has played for us i have to say that £9000 looks a sound investment for a man with a quick brain and good pace. Also as with the vast majority of great conference players, he has a suave moustache (e.g Noel Ashford, Mark Carter, Antone Joseph etc). Grow it back Westie !!!!!

PACEY CASEY.

TOMMO.

DEH.

Go to any Wycombe v Slough match and as you leave the ground the conversation is nearly always the same "Good to beat Slough (again), mind you I liked the look of that Thompson bloke." Well despite the fact that a Slough supporter friend of mine who claims that "Tommo wouldn't leave Slough for all the money in the world, he loves The Rebels", those of us who were lucky enough to witness that cracking FA Cup Semi against our good friends from Yeovil were greeted at half time by the news that Tommo had indeed just signed for us. Tommo is a quality midfielder who has always impressed me when I've seen him play. Not too sure how he will fit into the current midfield. Either Stapleton or Smith (who are very similar players) would have to make way for him, however, as far as I can see, the way they've played so far this season neither of them deserve to be dropped. I'm glad it's O'Neils' problem and not mine.

CONT...

Dennis Green made his first appearance in a Blue's shirt after signing from Chelmsford Town . The Beazer Premier League side's top scorer signed for 15000 earlier in that day. Dennis came on as a substitute for the last 25 minutes of that match and looked very sharp. He got his reward by scoring a very coolly finished goal in the 90th minute to sink Yeovil's hope of a dream trip to Runcorn for the final! Although I've only seen him play for 25 mins, if he continues to play like he did then, I can see him striking up a very exciting partnership with our other new striker Casey. He managed to do in 25 minutes what Scott has only achieved 5 times in 25 appearances this season. Apart from being cup-tied for the FAI (as Thompson will be) I would like to see him playing up front for the remainder of the season.

WELCOME TO OUR 3 NEW PLAYERS GOOD LUCK FOR THE REMAINDER OF YOUR (HOPEFULLY LONG) STAY. (And to the boys from Slough look who's playing in a Blue shirt now scoff scoff!!!).

In the wake of these results we conducted an exclusive interview with smug, big mouthed Colchester boss Roy McDonough.

MONDAY MORNING:

The Adams Family: "Well Roy, what went wrong this time."

Roy McDonough: "Well i told the lads 'dont wear yourselves out, we've already won the Mickey Mouse league, so go out and enjoy yourselves'. We told the fans before hand, and they thought it would be a good laugh too."

IAF: "Really Roy, so it was a good day out then?"

Roy McDonald: "Yeah, a resounding success. It gave us a great opportunity to involve a few youth players, and"

IAF: "Hang on there Roy. I've read the team sheet and I must confess to recognizing all the names on it, so where were the youth players?"

Ron McDonald: "Oh, er well you see, McGavin, that wasn't Steve, that was his younger brother, Roger, only seventeen and a good prospect. As for McDonough scoring the penalty, that wasn't me, it was my brother Nigel who is a brickie. He'd always fancied a game, so i put him in, it's all a big laugh mate, we've got the league sewn up."

IAF: "Yes we believe you Roy, and dont call me your mate, i happen to think you're a prize pillock."

Ronald McDonald: "Well. Non-league football it's crap isn't it, and i just think it's lucky that we can win, loose or draw and still please the fans. Cheers lads."

ROY McDONOUGH..... WHAT A COMPLETE .....

* Feel free to fill in your judgement.

THE MONTH AHEAD.....

LOADS OF GAMES IN THIS MONTH (and a half) TO PREDICT SO STRAIGHT ONWARDS. BY THE WAY, OUR RECORD FROM ISSUE ONE (RESULT IS ONLY MIND) IS 3 out of 5 AND 1 CALLED OFF.

WYCOMBE v BARROW (29/2/92)

Non League legend Colin Cowperthwaite calls into Adams park with his team of lowly nonentities. They've let in the most league goals away from home this season, so this is Scotty's big chance to add to those 3 league goals on his way to the 20 he promised us last season. A comfy win. SCORE WYCOMBE 3 BARROW 1

YEAVIL v WYCOMBE (7/3/92)

Another lowly mob who we've just dispatched in the B.I., however they don't give much away at home and games between the two of us are usually tight. Amazingly i have looked in envy of yeovil until we beat them to the VOI title, then i just respected them. Now i just laugh at them and so should you. Lets hope they stay up though 'cos the GK is going to need all the crowds it can get once we've gone. SCORE YEAVIL 0 WYCOMBE 1

WYCOMBE v BOSTON U. (10/3/92)

Bring a comfy cushion to kneel upon in worship as Sir Michael Nuttall graces the Adams Park pitch in the gold of Boston. However with the signings of Casey and Green perhaps we should end the mourning of O'Neills biggest mistake. Boston looked very useful earlier this season but have been very inconsistent and the crowds have been dropping faster than Jim Wignore got Farnborough off the pitch before they got the inevitable beating. SCORE WYCOMBE 2 BOSTON 1 (From the NUTT)

ALTRINCHAM v WYCOMBE (10/3/92)

Get yourself up to Alty, stand on the terrace and wonder just how the hell no-one has noticed that McKenna is obviously on the run from a secure mental hospital. Alty draw alot at home and they'll be fired up to beat us for once. Expect a corking match with plenty of sparks as our Jason meets Ken for the 1st time SCORE ALTY 2 WYCOMBE 2

REDBRIDGE v WYCOMBE (17/3/92)

Won 8, Draw 7, Lost 2, For 29, Against 11. A top home record and i can't see us getting much out of this resurgent team. Redbridge will want revenge for our (undeserved) 1-0 victory earlier. Lets just pray that dodgy old centre back Keith Barrett has to play, then we might get something. SCORE REDBRIDGE 2 WYCOMBE 1

WYCOMBE v STAFFORD R. (21/3/92)

Stafford are doomed, as i write they are slap bang bottom of the GMVC. Their away record is dreadful, they have the worst goal difference, earlier in the season they looked awful, they've scored nine in fifteen away games and this means they must be favourites to beat us. NO NO NO !!!, this time we must beat old crap like this lot. Loose this and i, a grown man, will weep. SCORE WYCOMBE 5 STAFFORD 1

WYCOMBE v NORTHWICH VIC (24/3/92)

This lot are good at home and naff away so as we've just had 'em away from home, we should call 'em over at home. Northwich deserve to loose just because of their programme cover which is of a lower quality than this photocopied journal. What else can i say, it's 1.00 am and northwich are BURNING. SCORE WYCOMBE 2 NORTHWICH 0

WYCOMBE v KETTERING (27/3/92) LIVE ON SPORTSCAST (GOOD!!!)

It's hard to predict this far ahead but i think this'll be a cracker. Kettering should still be up there somewhere. We'll need the points more than them and we'll take them after going 1-0 down early on. Laugh as the Valley 'hard' (ho ho) men proceed to giving age old chants to the huge satellite audience of 26 people and some Slough fans. SCORE WYCOMBE 2 KETTERING 1

FARNBORO' v WYCOMBE (4/4/92)

Yes led Pearce i thought that lot on the valley were sad, abusing your injured keeper, but my word i've never heard such self-righteous pontificating in all my football watching life. I'm sure your crowd have never abused an opposition player who's injured, actually they probably haven't because you don't get a crowd. As for Boro' skipper Jim Wignore, the man who lead his team off the pitch faster than an express train, thanks to some weak refereeing, we're going to beat your team of bottlers out of sight SCORE BORO' 0 WYCOMBE 3

You allow a highly dubious goal by probably the most negative side in football. This action, being the home side's 1st defeat of the season could put a serious spanner in their title bid.

During the EFL Semi a coloured football player disputed a decision with the Ref. Some old dodger stood behind me who was wearing a flat cap and an "I Love Len Worley" badge shouted out "Shut up - or bleeding soon." This is just the sort of fellow we did not want at our game on other football ground. Had this fellow paid for his 10 years old and wearing a leather jacket and an earring he would he have been booked a football they said there is every chance that he would have been ejected from the ground, so how come this old man got away with it? The youth of today eh?

CUT OUT AND KEEP FOOTBALL.

Just cut out the piece from each issue of 'The Adams Family' and when you've got all the pieces simply apply a good quality adhesive (We recommend glue) and Hey Presto!, an official F.A. replica football at half the price.

Please note that we are unable to print spare pieces due to the demand of forthcoming articles. So make sure you keep each piece in a safe place once you've cut it out, especially the one with the valve in which will follow in the next issue. (Safety note: for use in wet conditions - use a waterproof adhesive.)

After last seasons menacing duo completed their Wembley dream and took hold of that much coveted piece of non-league silverware, it seems that maybe due to injury (or maybe not) these two boys don't seem to be eating their Weetabix at the moment.

Here are some interesting facts :-

- 1) Keith Scott's last league goal was 30th November 1991
- 2) He has also scored 2, yes two other league goals this season.
- 3) Mark West's last league goal (excluding penalties - ooh isn't that mean) was 12th October 1991.
- 4) Last Saturday (15th Feb. at time of press) , Sir Mickey Nuttall scored 2 goals in 45 minutes.
- 5) So far this season Keith Scott has spent 27 Hours in league time on the pitch and has scored one more.
- 6) Strikers are employed to score goals.

In my personal opinion Mark West is a fine player and a skilful striker, Keith Scott is also an attacker to be reckoned with as he proved last season (11 goals in 17 appearances). And so we pose the final question :-

Does the signing of Dennis Green and Kim Casey spell the end for the dynamic duo ????

MUSICAL BLUES: The tunes that were TRULY inspired by the Blues!!!!

When you take a cursory glance through the nations music charts do you ever wonder what the songs were REALLY written about. Well we can reveal all in this thought provoking article. For example, kiddies favourite (MC)HAMMER's hit single 'Adams Groove' is infact a tribute to Blues skipper Glyn Cressor's funky dancing that he performs upon scoring. Also many people mistakenly believe that the video "Queen at Wembley", by A.O.R. band Queen is a live performance film, however it is actually an account of the great day out the band had at last seasons Trophy final. Shocked? Surprised? Then read on.....

- act 1: The LP '30 Something' by punk pop combo 'Carter USM' was inspired on the band discovering the age of veteran 'Ex Pro' Steve Walford. "We couldn't believe it," they said. "He looks and plays like a 20 year old."
- act 2: On seeing Wembley hero Keith Scott's barren spell in the programme statistics, Wycombe fans Mark Knopfler of Dire Straits and Sting, the bloke who hangs out with rainforest tribes, are to re-release their hit single 'Money for nothing'.
- act 3: The single 'Rush', by ex Clash man Mick Jones' band, Big Audio Dynamite, was written after Mick saw terrier like midfielder Keith '100%' Ryan at a number of matches last season.
- act 4: Indie faves 'Primal Scream' have just released the track 'Movin on up' to inspire the team and their veteran 'Ex Pro' Steve Walford. "We couldn't believe it," they said. "He looks and plays like a 20 year old."
- act 5: At a recent stadium gig, hoary old rocker 'Mick Jagger' dedicated the song 'street fighting man' to Wanderers hard man Gary Smith. The Rolling Stones frontman declared, "He's my favourite, hard but always fair."
- act 6: Ex-punk and smooth jazz/soul maestro is to reform 'The Style Council' for a rendition of the hit single 'How she threw it all away'. "I'll replace the word she for 'Colchester', laughed Paul. DO you think he'll get out alive readers ?
- act 7: Dreadful, so called 'Queen' of rock Tina Turner will re-release her classic number 'Simply the best' if the Blues win the conference. Actually there's a lot to be said for coming second !!!

Other Associated Tunes: 'Rubbish' by Carter (B&B Cup... 'Dont you forget about me' by Simple Minds (ly Gooden)... 'O-O after extra time' by 1000 yard stare (Mark West)... 'Where are you baby' by Jetty Bno (Martin Blackler)... 'Heartbreaker' by Dionne Warwick (Slough fans after hearing Thompson had signed for Wycombe) * PAUL WELLER

A-Z of Conference Football. Cont from Issue one

F is for FERNS : (yeovil)

You have to question this management when this donkey turns out week after week in the left-back slot. Maybe thats why Yeovil town get such great crowds, Perhaps they all turn up to see this clown perform his tricks (i.e. get sent off every game), After all it's cheaper and more fun than Gerry Cottles circus. Do us all a favour Jason, and next time you're running down that right flank, take him out for good !.

G is for The Golley Brothers

Don't ask me who's who, one plays for Welling and the other for Maidstone. Most brothers have something in common, and these two are no exception - They're CRAP !. The hardest thing to swallow is that one of them is in the non-league semi-pro side, it's diabolical.

H is for Mark Hughes : (Witton Albion)

This pittifull specimen thought he was getting one over on us in the semi-final of the Trophy when playing for Alty in the second leg. Coming on as sub when we were winning 3-1 on aggregate. He thought he'd stick his tongue out and stick his fingers up to enrage us. Instead we loved it, and promptly dismissed him as the useless tosser who looked like Chesney Hawkes.

Look out for him at the last game of the season, where i dare say Wycombe get promoted and his sorry bunch get relegated. Laugh as he tries to "wind us up" yet again.

I is for Icy (or not so icy) Pitches

Something to get angry about. You pay your money and after an hours football, you go home penniless having just seen a meaningless match. Yes the icy pitch, I know it happens in league football aswell, but it's just an excuse to abuse that bottling wazzock Wigmore and his fellow Farnboro' Fairies.

J is for JUDAS (Nicky Evans)

Many thought of Nicky Evans as the modern day Judas. He turned up for a monstrous sum, Kept getting injured, Sponged us for loads of money, and then cleared off to Barnet. Not denying he's a skillful player, but his loyalty was certainly questionable.
